

Healthy
for life.

Choose
Vet-A-Mix®
supplements
for the health
of your pet.

Vet-A-Mix offers a complete line of quality, research-proven nutritional supplements for the various stages of age, activity and health conditions of your pet's life. All are produced under stringent manufacturing and processing controls for guaranteed effectiveness and potency.

Pets love the meaty taste of the protein base in Vet-A-Mix supplements. In fact, many pets relish Vet-A-Mix chewable tablets as eagerly as they do treats. If your pet or you prefer, Vet-A-Mix chewable tablets can be crumbled and placed in the pet's food.

Why would your pet need dietary supplements?

Good question! In most instances, a high-quality food formulated particularly for a pet's nutritional requirements will provide your pet with all the vitamins and minerals necessary for good health. Supplemental vitamins and minerals are good insurance for pets as well as for humans.

But if your pet's diet includes occasional table scraps, if your cat or dog is sometimes a "picky" eater, or if your pet is exhibiting certain symptoms that indicate a nutritional deficiency, your veterinarian may recommend that you supplement the animal's diet.

Which Vet-A-Mix supplement is right for your pet?

Discover the complete family of Vet-A-Mix supplements and the nutritional purpose of each formulation on the following pages. If you have questions or concerns about your pet's particular nutritional requirements, please discuss them with your veterinarian. He or she is best qualified to determine which Vet-A-Mix supplement is right for your pet.

Derma-Form

For healthy
skin and coat
in mature dogs
and cats

If your veterinarian notices a poor coat or skin condition in your pet, he or she may recommend the nutritional boost and essential fatty acids available in one of our Derma-Form products. These palatable supplements add high levels of polyunsaturated fatty acids to your pet's diet, plus Vitamins A, D and E. Vet-A-Mix offers three nutritious, convenient ways to administer this supplement to your pet: Derma-Form Chewables, Derma-Form Liquid and Derma-Form Granules. Derma-Form Granules and Chewables also contain essential minerals beneficial to skin integrity.

Geri-Form

Your veterinarian may recommend Geri-Form for an animal that is exhibiting common signs of aging that are not due to a specific disease. Geri-Form has a special blend of nutrients that are vital for cell function and structure. Many pet owners reported improvement in their animal's balance, alertness, and coat appearance after Geri-Form was added to the pet's daily intake. Geri-Form's added nutrition may also be prescribed for convalescing pets.

A high potency nutritional supplement
for older pets

Pet-Form®

All-purpose
vitamin-mineral
supplement
for active,
growing dogs

With eleven essential vitamins and eight required minerals plus supplemental protein and unsaturated fatty acids, Pet-Form supplies nutritional balance to any pet food. Your dog will love the tablet's tasty blend of liver, yeast and meat flavors and relish this like a daily "treat."

Pet-Form offers a well rounded formulation to meet the vitamin and mineral demands of dogs in their active prime of life. Your cat will love Pet-Form, too.

Felo-Form

Cats are individual creatures right down to their nutritional requirements. Chewable Felo-Form was developed specifically to include those substances a cat's physiology demands, like potassium to guard against potassium deficiency. Felo-Form also contains 100% of the taurine required to help prevent central retinal degeneration. Formulated without magnesium, Felo-Form is safe for cats prone to or recovering from Lower Urinary Tract Disease.

Vitamin-mineral
supplement
designed especially
for cats

Cani-Flex

Promotes healthy joint
function in cats
and dogs

An animal's joints, like a human's, have the amazing ability to restore cartilage. But this regeneration demands large quantities of the building blocks for the process. With a high-quality glucosamine supplement like chewable Cani-Flex, the animal's body is able to help manufacture those building blocks to replenish cartilage and lubricating fluid in injured joints. Your veterinarian may advise Cani-Flex if your pet exhibits signs of arthritis.

Osteo-Form

Osteo-Form is a specific formulation of minerals like calcium and phosphorus from palatable bone ash and bone meal sources, plus vitamins A and D—all involved in bone and cartilage metabolism. This supplemental boost is suggested for fast-growing puppies, especially the larger breeds, for pregnant and nursing animals, and for pets recovering from fractures.

Vitamin-mineral supplement with
an emphasis on
bone building

Lipo-Form

A vitamin supplement
that supports
liver function

Basically this formulation of nutrients helps your pet's liver do its job. With its blend of vitamins plus choline and methionine, Lipo-Form helps prevent and correct fatty liver conditions and aids fat metabolism. Your veterinarian may suggest Lipo-Form be given along with a program for your pet's weight reduction.

Would your pet benefit from Vet-A-Mix nutritional supplements?

If your pet shows signs of any of the following conditions, please mention them to your veterinarian. He or she may recommend that you supplement your pet's diet with nutritional formulations from Vet-A-Mix.

- I often feed my pet table scraps.
- My cat has lower urinary tract disease.
- My puppy is one of the "large" breeds.
- My pet is overweight.
- My pet is more than six years old.
- My pet's coat is dull and dry.
- My pet is recovering from illness or a fracture.
- My pet moves with difficulty or stiffness.
- My pet has trouble keeping its balance.
- My dog is a hunting or "working" dog.

For the preventative maintenance of your pet's health, schedule regular checkups with your veterinarian. Follow his or her advice on vaccinations, dental care, diet and follow-up visits to assure the best possible life for your animal friend.
